Driving to Mann Island

Mann Island is easy to reach by road. The Strand (A5036), the main road that passes outside Mann Island, links the city centre with the A561 to the north and the A562 to the south. These main roads then connect with the main ring road, Queens Drive (A5058).

Nearby motorways include the M57 to the north, the M62 to the east and the M53 from Wirral via the Kingsway Mersey Tunnel.

Cycling to Mann Island

Route 56 of the National Cycle Network runs through Liverpool city centre and beside riverside developments at Otterspool, towards Sefton Park and beyond. It also links Pier Head with the Wirral via the ferry terminal at Pier Head – bikes can be taken free of charge onto the ferry – and connects the site with Route 62 (The Trans Pennine Trail).
